

Topless Suits Draw Protests

DALLAS (AP) — A church group demonstrated Monday against the display of a woman's topless bathing suit in a Dallas store. The pickets left the scene after the suit was sold and removed from the window.

The Rev. Ed Watt led some 40 members of the Carroll Avenue Baptist Mission in a protest against the suit. It was a bright red garment prominently displayed in the window.

Placards carried by the group read: "We protest topless suits in the name of Christ" and "We as Christians protest the sale and advertising of these topless suits."

5 N.J. Solons Back Scranton

NEWARK, N. J. (AP) — Five of New Jersey's 9-member Republican congressional delegation threw their support Monday to William W. Scranton for the Republican presidential nomination.

All are members of the House and one of them is a delegate to the GOP national convention.

The move came one day before the Pennsylvania governor's scheduled visit to New Jersey to woo delegate support to the national convention.

The endorsements meant that Scranton had picked up at least one more delegate vote at the convention in San Francisco.

Senk Case Gets Second Look

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court directed Monday that a Pennsylvania Supreme Court reconsider the case of Frank Earl Senk, a magazine salesman of Williamsport, Pa., who was sentenced to death for the slaying of a 13-year-old Centralia, Pa., girl.

Reconsideration was directed on the basis of a U.S. Supreme Court decision in another case Monday, in which it was declared that New York courts had not properly determined whether a confession was given voluntarily.

Kansas Fears Summer Flood

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP) — Flood waters rolled down the smaller streams of northwest Missouri and northeast Kansas Monday night as anxious residents near them watched the skies for signs of more downpours.

Swedes Talk Up Neutrality

STOCKHOLM, Sweden (AP) — Soviet Premier Khrushchev opened his visit to Sweden Monday under a heavy security guard and forewarned about trying to lure Swedes away from neutrality.

He also faced a quizzing from the government about the fate of a Swedish diplomat missing in the Soviet Union.

Sen. Ted Called Satisfactory

NORTHAMPTON, Mass. (AP) — Sen. Edward M. Kennedy lay immobile on a special orthopedic hospital bed Monday listening to radio music. Doctors described his condition as "extremely satisfactory."

The 31-year-old brother of the late President John F. Kennedy suffered a broken back in a plane crash Friday night while en route to the Massachusetts State Democratic Convention in Springfield.

His closely guarded room is on the first floor of a new section of Cooley Dickinson Hospital—opened two months ago. It was built mainly with federal funds which were obtained through the efforts of Sen. Kennedy.

Strike Threat Hurts Market

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market made another advance Monday but the mere thought that an auto strike was possible injected a note of uncertainty and the list closed below its best level. Trading was moderate.

The Dow Jones industrial average, which had been up as much as 2.63, closed with an advance of 1.32 at 936.57.

Volume was 4.56 million shares compared with 4.04 million Friday.

Scranton Says 3rd Runner Unlikely

HARRISBURG (AP) — Gov. William W. Scranton said Monday it is "possible, but improbable" that a third presidential candidate would emerge at the Republican national convention in San Francisco next month.

The Pennsylvania governor was asked at a news conference whether it was possible that a third choice would develop should he and front running U.S. Sen. Barry Goldwater fail to get the nomination on an early ballot.

Scranton replied: "It is possible, but improbable, it would be a third person." He indicated that the GOP nominee would be either he or Goldwater.

Asked if he could see any possible compromise choices, Scranton said: "I haven't thought about a possible compromise candidate."

At the same time, he was optimistic about his own prospects, even though the current Associated Press poll gives Goldwater a lead in delegate strength that would assure him of the nomination — if it holds through the first ballot at the convention.

"In the last couple of days I am very satisfied with what has happened," said Scranton. He said reports about delegates in the Midwest, where he toured five states last week hunting delegate support, are "better than I expected."

Asked to specify states from which he has received favorable reports, Scranton listed North Dakota, South Dakota, Minnesota, Iowa, Kansas and Missouri.

Again he declined to count delegates or put a number total on his delegate status.

Scranton reiterated that he would "be delighted to debate Sen. Goldwater anytime, any place."

He also declared that Goldwater seems "a little reluctant to take up the cudgel against President Johnson," via a face-to-face debate.

Scranton contended that the GOP is in the "underdog" role nationally and must make use of things as debates, televised or otherwise, to press its case.

Daily Record Special Report On Scranton

STROUDSBURG — What is Governor William Scranton the candidate, really like? What's he feel now under such pressure? What's it like to keep a hectic schedule, speaking here and there, meeting newsmen, revising speeches, catching planes, looking for a local angle then speaking again.

Robert S. Van Fleet, chief of Ottaway News Service, attempted to find out. The veteran newsmen flew with Gov. Scranton on his recent barnstorming tour for delegates to the national convention from Harrisburg, to Louisville, Ky., and then to Boston, Mass.

Van Fleet's story, "Scranton, The Man," will be published in the Daily Record this week.

He'll have story and pictures.

Ford Says He's Ready For Strike

CORONADO, Calif. (AP) — Henry Ford II said Monday his firm is more concerned than ever before by the United Auto Workers' "preliminary barrage" of contract demands. Negotiations start soon.

He pledged in a speech that the Ford Motor Co. would strive for a peaceful settlement, then added: "Willingness to accept a strike is part of the price of 'free and responsible collective bargaining.'"

"There seems to be a widespread assumption," he told the American Society of Corporate Secretaries, "that government and public opinion will no longer tolerate strikes in major industries and therefore that a real strike in the automotive industry is out of the question this year."

"I am convinced that responsible bargaining is most unlikely if the very possibility of a strike is ruled out from the beginning."

"Willingness on the part of the public, government and management to accept a strike, if necessary, is part of the price we must pay for the preservation of free and responsible collective bargaining — whether that willingness is ever put to the test or not."

He said the best way to prevent one side overreaching is to make it clear a strike may occur.

Ken Bannon, director of the UAW's Ford department, had this to say when asked for comment: "When it comes to lecturing the UAW as to the extent the union should push on economic matters in negotiations, Henry Ford II long ago lost his credentials."

Sit-In Rights Left Hanging In Mid-Air By High Court

Eager Paratroopers Whip Viet Cong

BANG LANG, South Viet Nam (AP) — Two Vietnamese paratroop battalions captured this village Sunday from the Communist Viet Cong in a vicious battle marked by a charge across 150 yards of muddy paddies in the face of murderous enemy machinegun fire.

The Vietnamese suffered the heaviest casualties of any single battle of the war in wiping out a Viet Cong suicide unit, but admiring American advisers hailed it as a significant military and psychological victory.

Vietnamese losses were listed as 29 killed and 85 wounded—some suffered accidentally due to their own eagerness to come to grips with the enemy. Viet Cong casualties were estimated at 140 from air attacks, artillery bombardment and direct assault.

The battle was fought in a swampy corner of the Plain of Reeds 45 miles southwest of Saigon. Rain swept the area today as the Vietnamese dug into their newly won positions.

"They didn't wait for artillery fire to help them," said Lt. Fred A. Dikes of Woodbury, N.J., a U.S. adviser, in describing the Vietnamese attack. "They charged in at those Viet Cong as fast as they could go."

An American source said their eagerness was responsible for four killed and five wounded accidentally in their ranks during close combat support by government fighter aircraft and helicopters.

"Those paratroopers were up there so fast the aircraft didn't know it and kept sending rockets and gun fire down on Viet Cong lines," this informant said.

Two helicopters were shot down but no casualties were reported. Aboard one was Brig. Gen. Joseph W. Stilwell, son of a famed World War II general. He is commander of all U.S. support forces in Viet Nam.

Franklin D. Roosevelt, Jr.

Roosevelt Crusades For Appalachia

WASHINGTON (AP) — The chief problem of Appalachia is the sense of abandonment and the feeling that the future will be no different than the present, said Secretary of Commerce Franklin D. Roosevelt Jr. Sunday.

He urged Congress to be "heroes of Appalachia" by fighting this abandonment, isolation and poverty.

Urging passage of the administration's $4.2-billion, 5-year program to aid the 10-state depressed mountain region with its 15 million people, Roosevelt told the Senate Public Works Committee:

"I know this region does not want to be supported, it wants to be utilized."

He said if Appalachia's potential is reached "the whole nation's economy will benefit."

The committee opened hearings Monday on the President's redevelopment program that Roosevelt said was a partnership of local communities, the states and the federal government, with the primary aim of building a network of roads to bring industry to the area. The project also provides for flood control and aids to health, education and agriculture.

Roosevelt pointed out that the Appalachia area has great potential resources, if they could be utilized.

Hamilton K. Pyles, deputy chief of the U.S. Forest Service, told the committee the forests of Appalachia are potentially "one of the best hardwood producing areas of the country." He said millions of acres need to be replanted and regional timber associations developed to manage the generally small ownership stands.

Lowell K. Birdwell, acting deputy highway administrator of the Bureau of Public Roads, said the 2,350-mile new road program would open up the inaccessible mountain area.

He added that "since the quality of medical care has improved greatly and the present Consumer Price Index procedures are ineffective in adjusting price indexes for these quality changes, the CPI overstates the true rise in medical care prices."

As an example, he said, physician fees increased 112 percent between 1935-60 — 11 percent less than the average price increase.

Health Care For Aged At Bat Today

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Ways and Means Committee votes Tuesday on health care for the aged.

Proponents of the administration's plan for hospital and nursing home benefits under Social Security said privately it has no chance of committee approval.

However, they are hopeful that a limited, optional provision for hospitalization will be included in a revamped Social Security benefit program.

Chairman Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark., believed to hold the key to the committee's action, confirmed it is ready to vote after months of off-and-on consideration of various proposals.

But he would not say precisely what would be submitted for consideration.

Justices Split On Rights Bill Issue

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court overturned Monday a series of trespass convictions against sit-in demonstrators. But it did so on technical grounds and did not come to grips with the basic constitutional question involved.

Left unresolved in five decisions was the fundamental issue of whether a cafe owner or other merchant is free to refuse service to a Negro and then have him arrested for trespassing if he declines to leave the premises.

There were clashing "yes" and "no" views stated by two groups of three justices. And a separate opinion by Justice William O. Douglas indicated a sharp dispute had brought a deadlock among the nine justices.

This internal impasse was disclosed as the court spent a long day clearing up its docket and then recessed until Oct. 5.

Commenting on the court's action in reversing 1960 sit-in trespass convictions in Maryland, South Carolina and Florida on narrow legal grounds, Douglas declared: "The issue consumes the public attention, yet, we stand mute avoiding decisions of the basic issue by an obvious pretense."

Douglas' opinion was joined in by Justice Arthur J. Goldberg. And Justice Hugo L. Black, in another opinion, was joined by Justices John M. Harlan and Byron R. White in saying, "We dissent from the court's refusal to decide the questions."

"We think that the question should be decided and that the 14th Amendment does not forbid merchants to serve Negroes."

Convictions of five other Negroes arrested for refusing to get off a merry-go-round at an amusement park at Glen Echo, Md., was reversed 6-3 in light of a previous high court ruling outlawing state laws which forbid merchants to serve Negroes.

House Zeroes In On Rights Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — House leaders started the wheels turning Monday toward final action on the civil rights bill probably 10 days from now. That would put it on President Johnson's desk in time for a symbolic July 4 signing into law.

The only cloud on the horizon is a backstage squabble over whether the Republicans can count on rejoining after that until their presidential nominating convention is over. The GOP Platform Committee meets the week before the convention begins in San Francisco on July 13.

So far, Majority Leader Carl Albert, D-Okla., has given them no such assurance. And he told newsmen Monday the leadership hopes to bring up the administration's top-priority poverty bill that week.

Republican Leader Charles A. Halleck of Indiana, speaking separately to reporters, said that Republicans on the Rules Committee might not be so inclined to cooperate on the civil rights bill if they are denied a Southern forces in the House.

Thereupon, Celler's resolution to bring the matter to the House floor for a vote was referred to the Rules Committee. That puts it in the hands of Rep. Howard W. Smith, D-Va., chairman of the committee and leader of the Southern forces in the House.

Florida Riots Put Governor On Carpet

ST. AUGUSTINE, Fla. (AP) — White gangs attacked Negro and white integrationists with fists and clubs twice Monday at a public beach in this racially torn old city.

The new outbreaks of violence came as a federal judge ordered Gov. Farris Bryant of Florida to show cause why he should not be held in contempt of court for banning after-dark demonstrations.

The incidents at the beach occurred several hours apart and were broken up by dozens of law enforcement officers—but not before several Negro and white integrationists were beaten.

Among those injured in the melees were a white integrationist who was clubbed on the head by an officer, and a Danish cameraman filming a television documentary on the United States.

One Negro boy suffered a broken finger, a Negro woman's arm was slashed and another suffered cuts about the head. Josea Williams, of Savannah, Ga., an integration leader, said about nine persons were taken to a hospital for treatment.

He said the white youth who was hit by police was Peter Bancroft of Amherst, Mass., who was attacked by white segregationists at the beach Saturday.

About 15 white men and youths armed with wooden clubs plunged into the surf after the integrationists when they returned to the beach following the earlier wade-in.

The clubs, apparently made from rough lumber, seemed to appear from nowhere. Several of the Negro bathers were struck, but none appeared hurt seriously.

Summer Ushers In 32 Deaths

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Thirty-two persons died as a result of accidents in Pennsylvania over the first weekend of official summer. The fatalities included 17 drownings, the heaviest toll for a non-holiday weekend since May 1959. Eleven lost their lives in the water then.

The bodies of two sisters who drowned Sunday night in a water-filled quarry in Hatfield Township, Montgomery County, were recovered Monday. The victims were Philomena Fallenten, 14, and Donna, 16.

$2 Million Plant For Honesdale

HONESDALE, Pa. (AP)—Moore Business Forms, Inc., of Toronto, Ont., has informed the Wayne Industrial Development Co. that it will construct a $2 million plant here.

The 70,000 square foot printing plant is expected to employ 100 men to start.

Tot Dies When Brakes Released

MECHANICSBURG, Pa. (AP)—Three-year-old Stuart J. Schumaker of Bowmansdale was killed Monday when he was run over by his mother's station wagon in front of the family home. The youth was playing behind the uncoupled vehicle, authorities said, when his twin brother, Steven, apparently released the hand brake.

Flies Over Drawbridge

MILFORD, Conn. (AP)—A Scraton, Pa., man provided some automobile acrobatics Sunday night when his car sailed across an opened drawbridge, police reported.

Raymond Spinosi, 28, was on U.S. 1 approaching the Housatonic River when the bridge began to open. His car went over the top and landed on the other side of the drawbridge.

Spinosi was uninjured. His car was damaged.

A lever which releases the bridges mechanism apparently was accidentally tripped.

The U.S. Office of Education estimates that nearly a million youths drop out of elementary and secondary schools each year.

BUSY WITH PAPER WORK—Dr. John Bruin, head of the heart study team in Bangor, goes over paper work before he sets up a clinic in Bangor. (Staff Photo by Shafer)

Heart Clinic Opens In Bangor July 6

ROSETO — Dr. John Bruin, sociologist from the University of Oklahoma said plans to open a clinic in Bangor to continue the university's study of heart diseases have been completed.

The clinic will be opened Monday, July 6, and continue through Aug. 15 and is open to any and all residents of Bangor who are more than 21 years old, Dr. Bruin said.

He continued, "In addition to a very comprehensive medical examination the team from the university will interview the people."

"We will delve into the history of the community, various organizations, people's attitudes about health and the community, and their customs, traditions and habits."

"A report of the medical examination will be forwarded to the individual's family physician who, in turn, will inform the individual of his or her medical condition."

The study, according to Dr. Bruin, is a continuation of the heart study made in Roseto last year. The findings will be compared with the results of Roseto.

"Once we make our report we hope to narrow down our study of heart disease to diet and/or heredity. Once we can establish this we can become specific in our study," Dr. Bruin said.

He continued, "One thing we have noted in our study in Roseto is that the families are very closely knitted, by that I mean if or when a problem arises the family member does not keep it to himself. The problem is talked over with other members of the family and everyone pitches in to arrive at the solution."

"What we want to establish is whether this is a hereditary trait of Italians or a carryover from customs in Italy. We do know that stress is a cause of heart disease. What we theorize is that any stress built up from a problem is spread over several people, thus eliminating a very hard stress on one individual."

"We also know that the Italians in Roseto have a diet very high in fat and starch and that a fat diet is conducive to cholesterol deposits in the arteries—thus, in the language of the layman, hardening of the arteries," Dr. Bruin concluded.

He noted that results of the study to be conducted in Bangor will not be known for about one year. After the data is gathered it will be taken back to the university for re-examination and evaluation.

Dr. Bruin added, "After the Bangor study we hope to move into other communities in this area to continue with a comprehensive and comparative study."

The study by Oklahoma University began after a seven year study of death certificates of persons in Roseto showed that no one in the community, under 47 years of age, died from a heart attack.

The study noted that there were heart attacks in the community, but that the person died from something other than a heart attack.

Blairstown Crash Kills 3 Women

BLAIRSTOWN, N. J. (AP)—Three women were killed Monday when their car collided with a tractor-trailer on Route 94 in nearby Frelinghuysen Township.

Police said the truck, driven by John Worts, 25, of Branchville, was headed west when the trailer section jackknifed as it rounded a sharp curve.

The trailer swung into the east-bound lane, police said, and the car carrying the three women collided with it. The cab of the truck then smashed into a utility pole, knocking down high voltage lines.

Firemen were called to the scene and flushed the area clean of spilled gasoline. There was no fire.

The victims, all from White Haven, Pa., were identified as Miss Martha E. Haiges, 44, the driver; Mrs. Freida Behlitz, 65, and Mrs. Frederic Kresge, 41.

Worts was treated at Newton Memorial Hospital for back injury and released.

The crash also knocked out power to a number of Jersey Central Power and Light Co. customers, including the state police station here. Police said the power suddenly went out at 8:49 a.m. The station went on emergency power and minutes later the accident was reported.

Blatt Urges Voters To Register

WILLOW GROVE, Pa. (AP)—Genevieve Blatt, state secretary of internal affairs, has asked some union families to help in the drive to register all Pennsylvania's eligible voters.

"The bigger proportion of the population that registers and votes, the more representative our government will be," said Miss Blatt, who is locked in a tight contest for the Democratic Senatorial nomination.

She spoke at a family day picnic sponsored by the women's political projects committee of the United Auto Workers' citizenship council at Willow Grove Park.

She spoke as though she were the candidate, although her contest with Justice Michael A. Musmanno of the state supreme court is not yet resolved.

"I would like to have every one of them (registered voters) vote for me on Nov. 3," she said, adding:

"But even if some of them would rather register in the (Republican) party, or even vote for someone else, I hope everyone of them will be able to vote for the candidate of her choice on election day."

S&L Men Told

Today's Housing Needs Shifting

POCONO MANOR, Pa. (AP)—A Philadelphia banking official said Monday that the emphasis in housing needs "seems to be shifting again."

John R. Bunting, vice president of the First Pennsylvania Banking and Trust Co., told the managers' conference of the Pennsylvania Savings and Loan League that he expects the industry to pass "through a few years of less than boom proportions as the market digests some of the construction that has already taken place and gets a firmer fix on a new pattern of demand."

Bunting said the shift in the age mixture of the population to people in their late teens and early 20s now necessitates a different sort of apartment building.

The post-World War II emphasis on single housing was followed by a luxury apartment phase, he said, adding that inducements likely to be included in the new apartment buildings are swimming pools, gymnasiums and bowling lanes.

Joseph M. Jefferson, president of the league, told the managers' conference that home financing will reach a record $1 billion per year by 1966.

Ike Likes Scranton, Scott Says

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Hugh Scott, R-Pa., expressed confidence Sunday that Dwight D. Eisenhower favors Pennsylvania Gov. William W. Scranton for the Republican presidential nomination.

But Sen. John G. Tower, R-Tex., a staunch backer of Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., the leader in the nomination contest, retorted that the former president has "expressed his neutrality and his determination to remain aloof" from the battle. He said no one should make any assumptions about his position.

Scott said it wouldn't be proper to quote Eisenhower. But he added, "I have no doubt in my mind whatever that as between the various candidates, he in his mind prefers Gov. Scranton as the presidential nominee."

"I am perfectly certain he is so proud of Gov. Scranton that I am satisfied in my own mind he believes he would be the strongest candidate against President Johnson," Scott added.

Scott and Tower aired their conflicting views on ABC's "Issues and Answers" radio-television program.

OIL HEAT Can Save You up to $2,160

COMPARE THESE PRICES IN THE POCONO MOUNTAINS

| COST OF 130 THERMS | | |
|--------------------|-------|---------------|
| OIL | GAS | OIL SAVES YOU |
| 16.46 | 18.48 | 11% |

The above figures take into consideration that the first 10 therms (11,000 Btu) of gas consumed are not used for heating purposes, so that the rates for gas heating start with the 11th therm.

If you are squandering $300 a year on gas heat, convert to Oil and slash up to $108 from your annual fuel bill. Twenty years from now, you will be up to $2,160 richer and your Oil burner will still be saving you money. Let others fill the utility's treasury. Never be duped into believing that gas heat can provide you (now or in the near future) with the same safe, clean, economical heating comfort which Oil Heat gives so dependably.

Here is what the U. S. Bureau of Labor Statistics has to say about it.

The Bureau reports that from 1957 through 1962 the cost of Oil Heat actually DROPPED 2.3% while the cost of gas heat INCREASED 18.5%. Even the cost of living index rose only 7.6%. Oil Heat costs remain stable because of lower transportation costs and the competitive spirit of thousands of independent fuel oil dealers who are eager to serve you. Utility monopolies do not compete. Consult your local Oil Heat dealer for complete facts.

Mervine Study Finds No Manor Negligence

By Jeff Cox
Daily Record Reporter
SNYDERSVILLE — County solicitor Russell Mervine said yesterday he saw "no evidence of negligence on the part of the staff of Pleasant Valley Manor" in the burning of Claude Teeter there May 30.

Mervine's opinion came after the county commissioners had conducted a hearing on the case at the manor yesterday. Teeter, 69, set himself ablaze May 30 at the home, and died of his burns June 14 in the General Hospital of Monroe County.

Mrs. Sherman Teeter, the sister-in-law of the dead man, had charged negligence at the manor.

Corner-DA Inquest
After a statement on "The People Speak," at WVPO radio program, and an appearance before the board, Mrs. Teeter's comments prompted the county coroner, John C. P. Faelker, and District Attorney James Marsh, to hold an inquest this Saturday.

Yesterday, nurses on duty at the time of the accident described how a commotion had alerted them, and how the fire was smothered with bedclothes.

Flammable Shirt
Residents at the manor—eyewitnesses to the accident—described how Teeter dropped his pipe on himself and how his shirt "burned like dry grass with oil on it."

Dr. John Martucci, the manor's physician, said that he thought the shirt was made of a synthetic flannel that evidently was highly flammable.

Under the questioning of Mervine, those who had been at the accident scene said that "everything humanly possible was done to put out the fire."

Mrs. Teeter had charged that a blind man—Teeter was suffering from cataracts—should not have been left unattended while smoking.

Statements showed that there were eight to 10 men guests with Teeter when the blaze started, that the nurse was at the head of the stairs, and that the shirt flamed up so quickly that preventive action was almost impossible.

Testimony
Highlights of the statements made at the meeting were: Mrs. Gladys Young, nurse on duty at the time, who was filling out reports at the head of the stairs when Teeter caught fire.

Around 10 a.m. I was the only nurse on duty on the men's side. I was upstairs when I heard a commotion. Knowing Claude Teeter, I didn't run every time he made a noise—he was a problem at the home.

"After a few seconds I hurried downstairs. As I came into the hall where Teeter was, he said 'My God, I'm on fire—get Mrs. Young.'"

Smothered Fire
"Then I smothered the fire. It wasn't over two minutes from the time I first heard a commotion until I put out the fire."

"I was upstairs and he was in the hallway. The hall was full of patients. One patient—Elmer Dick—tried to help. He burned his hands. He was the only patient who tried to help."

"Teeter was smoking a pipe. He wore work pants, a T-shirt, and a new flannel top shirt."

"The shirt was cotton flannel—he got it around Christmas. Claude had been at the home since March 3, 1963."

Constant Smoker
"He smoked constantly. He was using a little box of wooden matches—he had never had any trouble lighting his matches."

"I don't know if he was totally blind or not, but when he was eating, if some of the patients said something he didn't like, he would get up and walk out swiftly by himself."

"When I came down the stairs after he was alive, Teeter was standing in the middle of the hallway. The other patients were swarmed around him... just looking. I scattered them and pulled his shirttail out. Then I pulled linen off the bed—two sheets and a mattress cover—and smothered the flames."

On Fire

"The fire was a flame, not a smoldering fire—he was on fire from his waist up. After I put out the fire I applied sterile dressings and called Dr. Martucci. He called the ambulance."

"I would say that the ambulance took him away only 15-20 minutes after the fire."

"His shirt was laundered here at the home with regular detergent—no dry cleaning fluid was used."

"The county furnished a pipe tobacco. He smoked an ordinary pipe (Teeter's pipes were shown). He was conscious until a few minutes before the ambulance came."

Dropped While Lighting
"Charlie Owens, one of the other patients, said that he dropped his pipe on himself while lighting it."

Mrs. Keziah Zeid, another nurse who was in the home at the time:

"When I got to him, he was burned to the waistline... his face, head, ears, chest and back."

"After the ambulance came I tried to call his family. I contacted a niece and told her to contact Claude's brother."

"Claude complained of pain when he was put on the ambulance litter."

"Eight to 10 people were in the hall with him, but only Owens and Dick were competent to help him."

Water Splashed
Mrs. Young: "There was water all over the floor when I got downstairs. Elmer Dick had gotten the water."

Mrs. Ella Mae Smith, another nurse in the home at the time:

"When I got there he was on the floor. I helped apply the dressings. I was on duty on the women's side on the second floor."

Mrs. Young: "Cleaning women were cleaning the living room that faced the hall where the accident happened. They had the door closed at the time. The water came out of the living room at the same time I reached the bottom of the steps."

Haney Report
Mrs. Charles Haney, who, with her husband, runs the home:

"I was in the laundry at the time. When I got to him, Claude was conscious. He asked me to take the matches out of his pocket. They were box matches and hadn't caught fire."

"I picked up the sheets and bedding and put water on it. It was still smoldering. The shirt was made of flannel. It had lots of fuzz on top."

Dr. Martucci: "I think it was a synthetic type of shirt."

Mrs. Haney: "Mr. Wyckoff gave shirts every Christmas, and Claude also got shirts and clothing from his family."

"He didn't seem to be in great pain when he left here."

Ralph VanBuskirk, a worker at the manor: "I was in the basement—I went out to flag the ambulance. Claude had a strange way of lighting his pipe. He would place the box of matches against the bowl, then strike the match."

Elmer Dick, a guest at the manor, who was in the hall at the time:

Water Too Late
"I was shaving someone when it started. The fire started on his leg—on his thigh, then the shirt caught fire. I saw I couldn't do anything cause it was burning so fast, so I went for water, but the water was too late."

"The fire went from his leg to his sleeve to his shirt. 1-2-3. The shirt burst up in flames. It went like a bunch of dry grass with oil on it."

Charlie Owens, another guest: "The shirt burned fast. Mrs. Young came down quick."

Dr. Martucci: "The nurse on the floor usually stays at the head of the stairs. The bed patients upstairs require the greatest care so she stays up there."

Afraid Of Fire

"I talked to the family before Claude came out here. They said he was becoming harder to manage and they were afraid he would set fire to himself or the house."

"He had Parkinsonian tremors and was nearly blind due to cataracts."

"At Pleasant Valley Manor we have come from one resident nurse for 44 patients to the present total of 10 nurses and two orderlies for 73 people."

"You must remember that we are dealing with elderly people who have lost many privileges in life, and a lot of pleasures."

Smoking Revolt
"To say they can't smoke at all—I think they would revolt."

"Accidents like this happen even in the finest modern hospitals."

"Everyone in authority did everything possible to help Claude Teeter."

The Rev. Luther Markin, the manor's chaplain: "Mr. and Mrs. Haney have been here for 16 years and nothing like this has ever happened."

Miss Elizabeth Merring, public health nurse: "The family of Claude Teeter never even contacted the manor about Claude before they made statements about 'negligence' here."

"The press never contacted the home. Statements in the press were very unfair to this institution."

(The Daily Record did contact and quote Mrs. Young, Mrs. Haney and Dr. Martucci when it first reported the accident.)

In response to criticism of the Daily Record's printing of Mrs. Teeter's statements, Rev. Markin said, "I will speak on WVPO radio today at 12:40 p.m. on 'The People Speak.'"

"People's opinions are news, and should be printed in the newspaper."

"Viewpoints or opinions may differ but they should still be printed."

Miss Merring continued: "I took a high public health official on a tour of this home and she was very favorably impressed."

Family Guilt Feelings
Dr. Martucci: "People dump the elderly of their families here and then are beset by guilt feelings. The statements made by Mrs. Teeter have really hurt the women who work here."

"This kind of nursing is back-breaking, thankless nursing. The elderly are often incapable of taking care of themselves. The work demands the utmost attention."

"Then an accident happens and the criticisms pour in."

Mrs. Haney: "After Claude went home for a day's visit the last time, he came back and said, 'They've sold my shoes and things. I've nothing to live for now.'"

"For the last six weeks he was very restless."

"Mrs. Teeter said that if Claude came back to live with them, she would leave her home."

After the meeting, Mervine said that from the statements made, he didn't think that there was any case of "negligence" at the home.

Optimists Push July 4 Bell Ringing

STROUDSBURG — Robert Hoffman, Optimist Club president, said yesterday that the group will again sponsor "Let Freedom Ring" bell tolling on July 4.

Set for 2 p. m. Eastern Daylight Time on the Fourth, Hoffman said that most of the churches of Stroudsburg, East Stroudsburg, West End, Mt. Pocono, Barre, Kunklestown and Saylorburg will join in the memorial to the ringing of the first freedom bell in Philadelphia.

Originated by two citizens of Connecticut, Eric Sloane, artist, and Eric Harch, author, to "renew citizen awareness of our heritage," it soon gained national support.

Congress passed a resolution in June, 1962, declaring the observance an annual affair and calling upon civic groups to encourage public participation.

"This year, as last, the Optimist Club is proud to do its part toward increasing participation in the observance," Hoffman said.

Stroudsburg Duck Missing

STROUDSBURG — It's anyone's guess as to what happened to a stray duck? Mrs. William B. Webb, of 406 Main St., Stroudsburg, Monday at 3:18 p. m. reported to Stroudsburg police that a duck was wandering around the corner of 4th and Main Streets.

The duck which eluded police is believed to have escaped from Dr. Billy Hauserman, of 712 Thomas St., Stroudsburg. The doctor was in the process of moving to his summer home when the duck was lost.

PUT A TIGER IN YOUR TANK!

NEW POWER-FORMULA ESSO EXTRA GASOLINE BOOSTS POWER THREE WAYS:

1 Cleaning Power! Dirt can clog even a new carburetor in a few months of normal operation—causing hard starting and rough idling. Your very first tankful of New Esso Extra will start to clear away these deposits—in new engines or old—to improve power and mileage.

2 Firing Power! Spark plug and cylinder deposits can cause misfiring, pre-ignition and hot spots. New Esso Extra neutralizes these harmful deposits—to help your engine fire smoothly, to help preserve the power of new cars and restore lost power to many older cars.

3 Octane Power! New Esso Extra has the high octane that most cars now need for full smooth performance without knocking. You'll get all these extras with New Power-formula Esso Extra gasoline—it puts a tiger in your tank! Happy Motoring!

McCormick To Pay $12,744 In Pike County Law Suit

MILFORD — Leo W. McCormick, Republican candidate for Congress in the 15th district was ordered to pay $12,744 to William Thompson and Dolores Thompson, plaintiffs in a civil suit decided here Friday.

Following the verdict by a jury of eight men and four women before President Judge Fred W. Davis in Pike County Court, McCormick sought a new trial through his attorney, Sidney L. Krawitz, of Milford.

Mr. and Mrs. Thompson charged that they had loaned McCormick $8,871, paid in checks of varying amounts and at various times.

McCormick, who spent most of Friday on the stand, maintained the money was not a loan but an investment in mining operations in Virginia and Tennessee, and that he too had lost money in the venture.

In closing arguments, Roger Woltjen, the plaintiffs attorney, said that the Thompsons had paid McCormick a final check in August, 1938, while by McCormick's own admission, the mine had closed in the spring of 1938.

Judge Davis, in instructing the jury, said that in breach of contract litigation, the plaintiff had the burden of proof. The question before the court, he said, was whether the money had been paid as a loan or in a partnership.

The jury deliberated four hours and twenty minutes before bringing in a verdict in favor of the plaintiffs. The sum McCormick was ordered to pay represents the money paid him by the Thompsons plus six per cent interest.

King Edward's School, Birmingham, England, opened in 1952.

'Banner' Resort Year Predicted

STROUDSBURG — "Improved highways, extensive advertising and potential World's Fair traffic should contribute measurably towards a banner 1964 resort season," according to John P. Dougherty, local manager of the Pennsylvania State Employment Service.

Dougherty said that total employment in the Pocono area picked up an estimated 4.5 per cent in April and May. A selected 48-firm sample showed a rise from 7,782 to 7,927 jobs, or 1.9 per cent.

Resort building expansion is the chief factor accounting for gains in construction, he continued.

In addition, unemployment insurance claims are down considerably. For the April - May period, there was a 16.6 per cent drop, Dougherty said. Claims for the first five months of 1964 are 17 per cent lower than for the same period in 1963.

STAN PORTER, Radio City Music Hall entertainer, will appear at the Haddassah Fashion Show at Unity House Wednesday at 8:15 p.m.

Just Between Us —

Worth it? But, of course. Despite the irresistible impulse to jaw-breaking yawns and a fervent wish that the human anatomy had double-jointed hips so a body could sit on the other side for a while, I'm so thankful I went to the wedding in Illinois. It was a fascinating trip, family sentiment and solidarity quite apart, and I feel as if I'd been gone a week instead of a weekend. This is a beautiful country. Suburban Philadelphia is so drenched in rose perfume that you can smell it as soon as you get off the turnpike.

The jet-flight to Chicago takes an hour and 45 minutes and the ground was hidden by mist during most of the flight so that the fields around the Chicago airport looked unbelievably green and black as we landed. Aurora is a medium size city set in the midst of the prairie, and the bridegroom's family practically took over a small motel set in the midst of cornfields on a plain so flat that where the distant superhighway was built up to cross another road it looked as if the cars were floating.

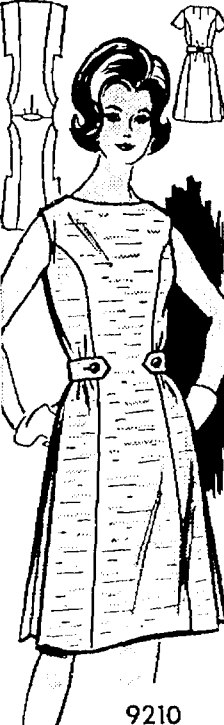

The motel was at Sugar Grove just off Bliss Road, which was almost too, too sweet for a wedding but we loved it, anyway. The story of the wedding, itself, will have to wait for the wedding pictures, but having bemoaned the complications of weddings in general, I think it only fair to add that their great justification is the fact that they are practically the only way in these mobile times that the two tribes can get to know each other, down to the third and fourth cousins. And this is a good and solid way of starting marriage which is, after all, basically a family affair.

In comparison to the trip out, the drive home took 27 hours, including eating and sleeping time, with practically all 850 miles on throughways. It's fast but tends to be dull, unless you were seeing it through eyes used to the European landscape.

"How beautiful are American barns," Shirley rhapsodized. "Maybe that's why American agriculture has flourished — they have so much room to store food for the winter, to shelter the animals. Europe has nothing like them."

And they are beautiful; from the hip-roofed barns of Indiana to the bank barns of Pennsylvania, all of them dwarfing the homes beside them, each home set under a giant elm or sycamore or maple as old as itself. Why, just learning to appreciate how beautiful is a barn is good and sufficient reason for the trip.

Year in Israel Undertaken As "A Great Adventure"

By N. E. Burd

Delaware Water Gap — "What is the first thing that comes in mind when hearing Yohevet Geshensky tell of her plan for the coming twelve months.

"Well—I don't know. Guess it's because I have had it in my mind since I was a little girl. Perhaps because my father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. Ben Geshensky, were over there."

"Over There" is Israel. Yohevet goes by jet plane June 26 to that land to give her time to work and to study. She will spend five hours a day studying Hebrew and four hours at work. That will be farm work or work in the orange groves in harvest time, or kitchen work, sewing, laundry work. There are machine shops and there is technical training if she requests such instruction and work.

One thing Yohevet disclaims and that is any particular patriotic or religious motive for going.

"Call it just a great adventure. It's natural for me to go; for I have an uncle and aunt and cousins on my mother's side and an uncle and aunt on my father's side over there. Also my grandmother was over there for six months' work five or six years ago."

Yohevet, 18 on July 5, was graduated from Stroud Union High this spring. In 1965, when she returns, she plans to enter East Stroudsburg State College.

New Grandchild At Keller Home

Kresgeville — A daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Green in the Allentown General Hospital recently. Mrs. Green is spending a few weeks with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Keller before returning to Fort Knox where her husband is stationed.

He is a specialist four, and was graduated from the Engineering school at Fort Leonard Wood, Missouri, and is an engineer mechanic.

as she desires to be a teacher of history and social science. She is realistic about her trip and acknowledges that she feels an occasional qualm as she knows there will be a homesickness. She had been prepared to be self-reliant by working summers in a girls' camp at Mink Sink Hills, by attending the Girl Scout Roundup in 1962, and by taking the Scout Counselor Training Course and utilizing it.

Her high school year book is one of the treasured articles she will take with her to her foreign home. For it is foreign and when asked about patriotic motive, she exclaimed: "But, THIS is my country."

However—despite prospect of hard work and long hours and intensive courses of study—she is thrilled to go and hopes she will see her great national hero, Ben Gurion.

Approximately one-third of all land in the United States is owned by the federal government and its holdings are growing. Nearly one-half million more acres are being acquired yearly from private owners for "recreational purposes."

Monroe Garden Club Picnic Among Wild Animals, Birds

Stroudsburg — Peacocks and ducks joined the Monroe Garden Club for their June picnic meeting held at the Pocono Wild Animal Farm as the guests of Mrs. Claude W. Leister.

Welcoming the group, Mrs. Leister invited them to suggest a name for the zebra baby born recently and the baby reindeer born the same week. Mrs. Leister explained that the peacocks are now nesting in the new Leister Bird Sanctuary and path-building has been postponed until later.

College Baboon Study
Among other interesting bits of information, Mrs. Leister told of the study being made by the University of Oklahoma on baboons at a camp in Arizona. Their findings prove that baboons confined in a small space and obliged to compete for food are in better condition than at large. The "rh" factor in humans is named for the rhesus monkey, she said.

Miss Anna Courtwright, vice president, presided in the absence of the president, Mrs. George M. Rung. Two new members, Mrs. Leonard Krandonk and Mrs. Harry Mackin were welcomed.

Mrs. Frank S. Fuller, garden therapy chairman, reported on fragrance for the blind gifts made for members of the Conqueror's Club. She also announced that Mr. Fuller's vision has been restored after seven years of being unable to see.

Laurel Manor Landscaping
Plans for the landscaping of Laurel Manor, a club project made possible by a Community Achievement award from Sears Roebuck Co., through the Garden Club Federation of Pennsylvania, were announced by Mrs. R. E. Hamblin and Mrs. Russell Harmon. Charles Withrow and the Agriculture Extension Office have prepared a scale plan of Laurel Manor. LaBar's Rhododendron Nursery landscape architects will complete the plans with plant design. The plantings will then be done as season and weather permit. Meanwhile annual flowers and plants have been set out for this summer's blooming.

The club accepted the invitation of Mrs. Thomas H. Wiss to hold their July 8 picnic in the form of an individual picnic lunch at her summer home at Lake Hopatcong after learning that previous plans had to be changed.

The group toured the Animal Farm and Wild Bird Sanctuary after they had displayed items they had made suitable for sale during the Garden and Flower Mart Aug. 6, 7 and 8. Mrs. Charles A. Bell listed the names of those who will donate items.

THE WYCKOFF SHOPPER

Estelle Koster, Norma Greenstein and I were busy working over Wednesday evening's fashion show program the other afternoon when a gentleman hurried into the Keystone Room accompanied by Bill Wells. I glanced up and he looked friendly and familiar, but at first I must admit I didn't recognize David Gottlieb whose "Gothie" fashions are so enthusiastically admired by fashion conscious women.

When he smiled . . . and when I noted that he was carrying a leather-like case filled presumably with dresses, I knew where we had met before: in his salon in New York on a busy day when he was preparing his new collection for its official unveiling on June 2nd. Our first meeting came about strangely, considering that "Mr. Gothie" is in our store very frequently as a part time resident of our country. I just happened to see his name on the door as the elevator stopped at his floor, and suddenly it seemed like a lighthouse in a storm. All day I had trekked around New York in the heat looking for the right dress for our big show. I had seen so much, my head was spinning. I was tired and disgruntled; in a complete fog as to how I wished to look or even as to how I should look. Gothie would know . . . no doubt about it, and if it seemed presumptuous to ask him, it was my hope that I'd be forgiven because of his friendly regard for the Wyckoff family, and his warm-hearted attitude toward human beings in general.

Bless him!—he was just as wonderful as I'd anticipated. What had I seen that I liked, he wanted to know. After hearing my descriptions, and my plaintive wail, "Here I am . . . this is how I look, now what will I wear?" he made an unhesitating decision. "The coral chiffon," he said. "It will be just right, you'll see."

So . . . while I can never afford to be dressed in Gothie fashions, I can at least say that I was dressed with Gothie guidance. And quite miraculously my gown has many of the style features which make Gothie creations so spectacular. Which brings us to the case of gowns he was carrying: four of them . . . each one breathtakingly spectacular. The least expensive is 165.00 . . . the most expensive, 395.00.

One cannot possibly describe them to the full extent of their magnificence . . . that's why you must see them to believe them.

You will see them—won't you?

Our June Jumbo Sale is in full swing right now, and if the customers are wildly enthusiastic, who can blame them? For weeks, I've been unable to find a comfortable "perching point" in our advertising department because it was crammed with sale merchandise. Wearing apparel, houseware items, slip covers—everything imaginable, all so desirable one could easily blow the budget sky high and wide open. It really pays to shop now, so why don't you visit Wyckoff's today? . . .

Esther Ainspac is looking forward to receiving a new batch of snapshots for her wallet any day. This time the "star" attraction is Meghan, 5-month old girl who has joined her son, Robert's household . . . Janie Hunt Everitt's little girl was a cute shopper last week when she toddled into our store to buy a gift for her new baby brother and another for her Daddy. . . . Nice to have Fran Meredith back in our Display Department looking and feeling chipper once again. Fran may work behind the scenes but his windows are definitely "out in front!" to entice customers with their attractive displays of swim wear, lingerie, millinery and other samplings of the "goodies" Wyckoff's offers.

Cy Barrett Says

Evil Apathy

By Cy Barrett, Jr.

DEAR CY:
President Johnson is so right when he says the nation is beset by "apathy . . . the most dangerous disease of all." Three days ago, we got an order from an important customer who we were afraid was becoming an ex-customer. You'd think someone seeing the new order would shout halloo! The boss would have rejoiced, if he wasn't so angry that no one else was happy. According to my dictionary, apathy means "lack of emotion, lack of interest, listless condition, indifference." Apathy is our black plague.

MAX MARCHESE

DEAR MAX:
Just as war is an extension of politics and human actions an extension of animal behavior, I feel leisure patterns are an extension of on-the-job attitudes. Recently, a group of people watched idly while a man brutally beat up a young woman in the Bronx. No one raised a finger until police arrived that sunny May day.

In New York City, 38 witnesses did nothing while Catherine Conovese was stabbed repeatedly for one-half hour. Several weeks ago, I was soaking up sun on a beach crowded with thousands of others when a teenage girl, who was being mauled by a man, screamed, "Help me, help me. Please help me!" Not an oiled muscle twitched as I pushed my way through standing and prone bodies to do what I could to help.

No one seemed the least bit perturbed. You can be certain, Max, these incidents are minuscule in relation to the insidious, erosive effect of apathy in business and industry. What is seen in broad daylight . . . during non-working hours . . . keynotes the evil effects of apathy which will effect our lives and those of our children.

DEAR CY:

For 25 years, I have made a very good living in the jewelry business on the second floor of a building in the main part of town. Last week, I got word they are going to tear the building down. I just don't know what to do. Any move will cost a lot of money and how will I make out? I am 53. Should I get a job with someone else?

A. JEWELER

DEAR A. JEWELER:

Many readers in their fifties are anxious and ambitious to start a business of their own but lack specialized experience. You have experience and the ambition of a dozing turtle. At 53, you have 12 productive years (at least) to enjoy in business before retirement. Rocket around and find yourself a new location. After sliding along all these years, are you going to break your main-spring through default?

CY

DEAR CY:

My children will soon be in high school and I have been considering jobs to keep me busy. In view of the continuing shortage of teachers, and my desire to do something worthwhile, I have decided to get into teaching.

Unfortunately, my formal schooling ended after one semester in college and that was 15 years ago. To compound the difficulties in resuming my education, my husband is an engineer. He rarely stays in one place longer than two years before he is transferred. If only some university offered correspondence courses leading to a B.A. degree, my problems would be solved.

MRS. B-G

DEAR MRS. B-G:

The National University Extension Association, Room 12, Building TSMC, University of Minnesota, Minneapolis, issues a "Guide to Correspondence Study," priced at 25 cents. It lists colleges and university extension courses, some of which can lead to a B.A. degree.

Most schools, however, require the last 30 semester hours (approximately a year of study) be completed in residence. You might be able to do the bulk of your work by mail and complete the last year at a university near where your husband is located. The next time your husband is shuffled, he should try to be dealt a college or university town.

Social Security Benefits Rise Possible In Election Year

By Congressional Quarterly
WASHINGTON — (CQ) — In customary election-year fashion, Congress appears ready to expand Social Security benefits. But it is still reluctant to endorse any major innovations in the system, such as financing medical care for the elderly through higher Social Security taxes.

The Social Security system, which will be 30 years old next year, has been amended in every election year since 1946, and in one of 1961. Benefits have been raised, coverage expanded to take in more people, retirement ages lowered and disability benefits brought under the program.

However, benefits under the old-age insurance, or retirement plan, of Social Security have not been boosted since 1958, and Congressmen, with an eye on November, are talking about the need for such a raise in view of the higher cost of living.

Medicare Compromise
Social Security legislation must originate in the House Ways and Means Committee, whose chairman, Rep. Wilbur D. Mills (D Ark.), has always opposed Social Security financing for hospital insurance. In view of Mills' position, backers of Medicare have been talking about a possible "double-track" compromise plan.

The plan calls for a first "deck" providing a 5 percent increase in Social Security cash retirement benefits to those 65 and over. The second deck of benefits would be offered in optional form. The recipient could either take an extra bonus of $4 or $5 in cash benefits or the bonus in the form of federally financed hospital care.

Committee sources say there are not enough votes on the 25-member Committee to assure approval of the optional hospital plan, but the straight raise in benefits is likely.

1935 Law
The Social Security Act of 1935 set up five major programs: Old-Age Insurance, Old-Age Assistance, Aid to the Blind, Aid to Dependent Children and Unemployment Compensation. The Committee on Economic Security which President Roosevelt appointed in 1934 to draft the recommendations for the program also proposed eventual creation of a national health insurance system, but the President did not include this recommendation in his message to Congress.

Two approaches were used for financing the programs: insurance, which was basically self-financing through a payroll tax; and assistance, which was financed through annual appropriations from general revenue. In the first system, the person participating paid his own share during his working years and in the second, the recipient of the benefits received what was essentially charity.

Old-age insurance was based on a federal payroll tax imposed originally on most industrial and white collar employees and their employers and later broadened to include most of the labor force. The tax began at 1 percent each for employers and employees on the first $3,000 of the annual earnings of the workers.

Tax Increases
The tax rose to 3 percent by 1949, and is now 3.5 percent of the first $4,800 of the employee's annual earnings. Under existing law it will go up to 4 1/2 percent in 1965 and 4 3/4 percent in 1968.

A raise in benefits this year would almost certainly involve another rise in the percent taken from a worker's salary (probably 3 percent by 1970), based on the first $5,600 of an employee's earnings.

'It's A Long Way Down,' So Bunning's Not High

By JOE REICHER
CHERRY HILL, N. J. (AP)—The full significance of his historic Father's Day feat hasn't dawned on Jim Bunning yet and the tall Philadelphia Phillies pitcher prefers it that way.

"I think it's good I don't realize it," said the bony, freckle-faced right-hander. "Getting up too high can hurt a fellow. It's a long way down."

Bunning achieved a pitcher's utmost dream Sunday, turning in a perfect game against the New York Mets in Philadelphia's 6-0 triumph.

A Long Time
It was the first such performance in the National League in 84 years and the first in the majors, regular-season play since

Charles Robertson of the Chicago White Sox retired all 27 Detroit batters he faced in 1922.

"It's hard for me to believe that," said Bunning today at his home in Cherry Hill. "I'm thrilled, of course, but it's not going to change my way of living. You can bet on that."

"I've been in this game too long to allow a thing like this to go to my head," added the 32-year-old Kentuckian, an even-tempered man who has been playing professional baseball since 1950, the last 10 years in the major leagues.

"Sense of Values"
"I've experienced big moments before and I feel confident I can take this in stride. I don't mean to under-emphasize what I did, but a man has to have a sense of values."

This was the second no-hitter of Bunning's big league career. He hurled his first as a member of the Detroit Tigers against the Boston Red Sox in 1958. Two bases on balls and a hit batter marred his bid for a perfect game.

"My first no-hitter caused a bit of excitement," Bunning recalled, "but not anything like this. The telephone has not stopped ringing since early this morning. And I've talked to more reporters and posed for more photographers than I have in all the other days combined."

Bunning, a father of seven, had the added pleasure of having his wife, Mary, and oldest child Barbara, 12, watch his masterpiece in person at Shea Stadium. The rest of the crowd saw it on television.

Paying Off
Bunning's achievement has already paid off financially. He received $1,000 for appearing on Ed Sullivan's television show Sunday night.

Frank Scott, major league players' agent, estimated Bunning might earn as much as $25,000 by the end of the year, aside from his salary, estimated at around $30,000.

The prospect of nearly doubling his earnings this year brought a typical Bunning reaction.

"It'll help feed the kids," he said with a grin.

McKinley Wins First Round; Ralston, Froehling Downed

By JOHN FAIRROW
WIMBLEDON, England (AP)—Defending champion Chuck McKinley bounced to an easy first round victory in the Wimbledon Tennis Championships Monday, but Dennis Ralston and Frank Froehling—No. 2 and No. 3 U.S. players—bowed in their opening matches.

McKinley, 23, from San Antonio, Tex., and No. 1 American player, took the center court first in the traditional defender spot, and quickly demolished South African Terry Ryan, 6-2, 6-1, 6-3.

Then Ralston, who teamed with McKinley to win the Davis Cup from Australia last December, and Froehling, finalist at Forest Hills in 1963, went quickly down to defeat before the tournament got well started.

Fifth Seeded
Ralston, fifth seeded here and only last Saturday the winner of the NCAA tennis title, fell before lightly regarded British player Tony Pickard. The quick change from clay to grass surface was too much for the American.

The Bakersfield, Calif., youngster battled for two hours and 35 minutes before Pickard won, 3-5, 3-6, 6-4, 7-5, 9-7.

Then Froehling, 6-foot-3 and the most powerful server in amateur tennis lost to Nicola Pietrangeli of Greece, 13-11, 3-6, 6-2, 0-6, 6-4.

Four Yanks Win
Four other Americans won their opening matches.

Arthur Ashe, Richmond, Va., the only Negro in the field, defeated Stanley Matthews Jr., of Britain, 6-3, 6-4, 1-6, 6-2.

Chiff Richey of Dallas, the U.S. Junior champion making his Wimbledon debut, battled for two hours and 20 minutes to defeat the stateless Pole, Andrew Licis, 6-4, 3-6, 6-4, 8-10, 6-3.

Ron Holmberg of Brooklyn polished off Mustapha Belkadjia of Tunisia, 6-4, 6-4, 6-2.

Hugh Stewart of South Pasadena, Calif., playing in long white trousers, defeated Ray Senkowski of Detroit, 6-4, 6-2, 5-8, 6-2.

Two Others Lose
Besides Senkowski, Ralston and Froehling, two other Americans lost on the first day on play.

Roy Emerson of Australia, the top seed, whipped Don Dell of Bethesda, Md., 6-3, 6-1, 6-0.

Tomas Lejus of Russia, who was beaten by Emerson in the finals of the Queen's Club tournament last week, tripped Alan Fox of Los Angeles 6-3, 6-2, 6-2.

WIMBLEDON, England (AP)—Clark Graebner's shot landed a couple of feet beyond the baseline, and Abe Segal of South Africa waited for the lady linesman to call the ball out, and give him the match.

She didn't. She was asleep. Segal stared at her. The crowd laughed. She slept on. Graebner of Cleveland, Ohio, smiled and conceded the point, to give Segal a 6-2, 7-5, 6-2 victory in the first round match at Wimbledon.

The crowd applauded. The lady linesman slept on. Segal gently tossed a tennis ball at her. It bounced on her knee, but still she didn't wake up.

Finally a ball boy ran across the court and joggled her awake.

EAST STROUDSBURG — "Play it simple!"

This was the theme of two high school coaches who opened the 21st annual Eastern Pennsylvania Coaches Clinic yesterday at East Stroudsburg State College.

Jim Combs of Woodbury, N.J., and John Petercusk of Neshaminy, both stressed simplicity and basic fundamentals for scholastic football success.

"If you're going to get effective performance in both offensive and defensive football," said Combs, "you need simplicity. But you also have to disguise and conceal this simplicity to create doubts in your opponents' minds."

"Neshaminy Football" — Discussing "Neshaminy Football" — Successive Defensive Play," Petercusk told the group that "basically you have to stick to the fundamentals."

The former ESSC gridders also emphasized a "player development program" which he considers "one of the most important things in our football program."

"This program, he said, includes the use of weights, wrestling mats for agility drills, and running."

"If you develop a kid physically," he contended, "you also develop him mentally so that he can play a better game."

Petercusk also opined that a thorough job of coaching the varsity team should consist of no more than 25-27 players. The other boys should be handled entirely by the junior varsity coach who, in most cases, does a competent job."

"The Passing Game" — Bob O'Dell of Bucknell University, discussed "Winning Football Through the Passing Game."

O'Dell cited his impressions and opinions on the passing attack which he said could bring success to many teams "if it is developed properly."

Today's agenda includes lectures by Dick Hoover of Vestal (N.Y.) High School, Dan Devine of Missouri University, and Clyde (Red) Witman, head wrestling coach at ESSC.

Hoover will discuss "Multiple Offense in High School." Devine will speak on "Developing the Offense — Team Drills" and "Short Yardage and Goal Line Defenses," and Witman will talk on "Drills to Develop the Successful Wrestler."

A buffet will follow at Glen Brook Country Club.

Callison's Clouts Push The Phillies

By BEN OLAN
NEW YORK (AP)—Let's give Johnny Callison some credit for the Philadelphia Phillies' first place standing in the National League.

The 25-year-old outfielder has been virtually overlooked while the pitching staff, strengthened by the acquisition of Jim (Perfect Game) Bunning from Detroit and Ed Roebuck from Washington, has drawn most of the accolades for the club's improved showing.

Callison played a most important role as the Phils took four out of five from the New York Mets over the week-end and increased their lead over runner-up San Francisco to two games. He had eight hits in 18 attempts, including three homers.

Memorable Homer
One of the home runs came in Sunday's opener while Bunning pitched the first perfect game in the National League in 84 years.

Callison's output enabled him to move in among the National League's top 10 batters with a .303 average. Since May 19, he has hit at a .352 pace with 45 hits in 128 tries.

Most of the other National League's leading batsmen lost ground in last week's games.

Lose Ground
Billy Williams of the Chicago Cubs, the pace-setter, lost nine points to .373 with seven hits in 24 times at bat. Willie Mays of San Francisco held second place with .359, a five-point drop.

In the American League, rookie Tony Oliva of Minnesota regained first place from Jim Ivie of Los Angeles' Angels' shortstop. Oliva slumped nine points to .347. However, Ivie managed only four hits in 21 attempts and dropped to .337, a loss of 22 points. The figures include Sunday's games.

Bakich Wins Zippo Open
BRADFORD — Ron Bakich, pro at Lords Valley Country Club, yesterday won the Zippo Golf Open, shooting a one-under-par 69 competing against a field of 175.

The triumph was his first tournament victory of the season.

Bakich, who had never played the Penn Hills CC course before, mingled five birdies with four bogeys to claim the $500 first prize.

Tennis Loss
BETHLEHEM—East Stroudsburg lost to Bethlehem, 4-5, in the Lehigh Valley District Tennis League Sunday.

East Stroudsburg winners were Richard Baker, Jim Frederick and Charles Reese in the singles, and Frederick and Don Brosius in the doubles.

Venturis Go On 'Splurge'

By WILL GRIMSLEY
Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Ken Venturi got a haircut and his wife, Conni, splurged on three pair of new huses.

That's where the first $8.75 went from the $17,000 winner's purse won by Venturi Saturday in the National Open Golf Tournament at Washington, D.C.

"Ken was so discouraged two weeks ago that he said he wasn't going to get his hair cut until he won a tournament," the beautiful Conni, a statuesque brunette who looks like a Las Vegas showgirl, said Monday.

"And, as for me, I didn't have a pair of hoes in the place without runs in them. So the first thing I did was rush out and get hoes—three pair."

If the Venturis thought winning the Open was a grueling grind in Washington's pressure-cooker heat, they hadn't reckoned with the mad aftermath that comes from winning golf's most coveted prize.

Manhattan Receptions
"We've hardly had time to catch our breath," Conni said as she and her famous husband whisked to another of a series of Manhattan receptions. "We got to New York Sunday afternoon — and the telephone hasn't stopped ringing."

"But we love it. It's just wonderful."

A couple of weeks ago Venturi had to beg to get an invitation to play in a tournament, the Thunderbird Classic at Rye, N.Y.

Now he is besieged with all sorts of offers. He's wanted on television. People want to write his life story. They are after him for exhibitions. He is sought for endorsements.

They say winning the Open is worth $100,000 in side benefits during the first year.

It hasn't always been this way. Eight years ago Venturi, now 33, was acclaimed golf's most promising prospect and the probable successor to Ben Hogan. But he blew the Masters in 1956 after taking a big lead through the first three rounds.

Frustration, failure and injury followed.

Then the tide suddenly turned — with the Open. But it wasn't easy.

The San Francisco professional's son said he got his greatest thrill as he strode down the fairway on the 18th and finishing hole.

Thundering Applause
"As I walked, the people on the hillside rose to their feet. It was as if a flag was going by," he said, "and there was applause — like thunder."

"I knew I made it last putt. I had it. I made it and I turned to Ray Floyd, who was playing with me. Tears were streaming down Ray's face. Then they started coming down my own."

"I said, 'My God, I've won.' I could hardly believe it."

'It's A Long Way Down,' So Bunning's Not High

By JOE REICHLER
CHERRY HILL, N. J. (AP)—The full significance of his historic Father's Day feat hasn't dawned on Jim Bunning yet and the tall Philadelphia Phillies pitcher prefers it that way.

"I think it's good I don't realize it," said the bony, freckle-faced right-hander. "Getting up too high can hurt a fellow. It's a long way down."

Bunning achieved a pitcher's almost dream Sunday, turning in a perfect game against the New York Mets in Philadelphia's 6-0 triumph.

A Long Time
It was the first such performance in the National League in 84 years and the first in the major leagues since 1922.

"It's hard for me to believe that," said Bunning today at his home in Cherry Hill. "I'm thrilled, or course, but it's not going to change my way of living. You can bet on that."

"I've been in this game too long to allow a thing like this to go to my head," added the 32-year-old Kentuckian, an even-tempered man who has been playing professional baseball since 1950, the last 10 years in the major leagues.

"Sense of Values"
"I've experienced big moments before and I feel confident I can take this in stride. I don't want to under-emphasize what I did, but a man has to have a sense of values."

This was the second no-hitter of Bunning's big league career. He hurled his first as a member of the Detroit Tigers against the Boston Red Sox in 1953. Two bases on balls and a hit batter marred his bid for a perfect game.

"My first no-hitter caused a bit of excitement," Bunning recalled, "but not anything like this. The telephone has not stopped ringing since early this morning. And I've talked to more reporters and posed for more photographers than I have in all the other days combined."

Bunning, a father of seven, had the added pleasure of having his wife, Mary, and oldest child Barbara, 12, watch his masterpiece in person at Shea Stadium. The rest of the brood saw it on television.

Paying Off
Bunning's achievement has already paid off financially. He received $1,000 for appearing on Ed Sullivan's television show Sunday night.

Frank Scott, major league players' agent, estimated Bunning might earn as much as $25,000 by the end of the year, aside from his salary, estimated at around $30,000.

The prospect of nearly doubling his earnings this year brought a typical Bunning reaction.

"I'll help feed the kids," he said with a grin.

McKinley Wins First Round; Ralston, Froehling Downed

By JOHN FARROW
WIMBLEDON, England (AP)—Defending champion Chuck McKinley bounded to an easy first round victory in the Wimbledon Tennis Championships Monday, but Dennis Ralston and Frank Froehling—both of the No. 2 and No. 3 U.S. players—bowed in their opening matches.

McKinley, 23, from San Antonio, Tex., and No. 1 American player, took the center court first in the traditional defender spot, and quickly demolished South African Terry Ryan, 6-2, 6-1, 6-3.

Then Ralston, who teamed with McKinley to win the Davis Cup from Australia last December, and Froehling, finalist at Forest Hills in 1963, went quickly down to defeat before the tournament got well started.

Fifth Seeded
Ralston, fifth seeded here and only last Saturday the winner of the NCAA tennis title, fell before lightly regarded British player Tony Pickard. The quick change from clay to grass surface was too much for the American.

The Bakersfield, Calif., youngster battled for two hours and 35 minutes before Pickard won, 3-6, 3-6, 6-4, 7-5, 9-7.

Then Froehling, 6-foot-3 and the most powerful server in amateur tennis lost to Nicola Pietrangeli of Greece, 13-11, 5-6, 6-2, 6-6, 6-4.

Four Yanks Win
Four other Americans won their opening matches.

Arthur Ashe, Richmond, Va., the only Negro in the field, defeated Stanley Matthews Jr., of Britain, 6-3, 6-4, 1-6, 6-2.

Cliff Richey of Dallas, the U.S. Junior champion making his Wimbledon debut, battled for two hours and 20 minutes to defeat the stateless Pole, Andrew Licis, 6-4, 3-6, 6-4, 8-10, 6-3.

Ron Hohnher of Brooklyn polished off Mustapha Belkoudja of Tunisia, 6-4, 6-3, 6-1, 6-0.

Hugh Stewart of South Pasadena, Calif., playing in long white trousers, defeated Ray Senkowski of Detroit, 6-4, 6-2, 6-8, 6-2.

Two Others Lose
Besides Senkowski, Ralston and Froehling, two other Americans lost on the first day on play.

Roy Emerson of Australia, the top seed, whipped Don Dell of Bethesda, Md., 6-3, 6-1, 6-0.

Tomas Lofus of Russia, who was beaten by Emerson in the finals of the Queen's Club tournament last week, tripped Alan Fox of Los Angeles 6-3, 6-2, 6-2.

WIMBLEDON, England (AP)—Clark Graebner's shot landed a couple of feet beyond the baseline, and Abe Segal of South Africa waited for the lady linesman to call the ball out, and give him the match.

She didn't. She was asleep. Segal stared at her. The crowd laughed. She slept on. Graebner of Cleveland, Ohio, smiled and conceded the point, to give Segal a 6-2, 7-5, 6-2 victory in the first round match at Wimbledon.

The crowd applauded. The lady linesman slept on. Segal gently tossed a tennis ball at her. It bounced on her knee, but still she didn't wake up.

Finally a ball boy ran across the court and joggled her awake.

Simplicity Is Grid Theme At ESSC Coaches Clinic

EAST STROUDSBURG — "Play it simple!" This was the theme of two high school coaches who opened the 21st annual Eastern Pennsylvania Coaches Clinic yesterday at East Stroudsburg State College.

Jim Combs of Woodbury, N.J., and John Petercusk of Neshaminy, both stressed simplicity and basic fundamentals for scholastic football success.

"If you're going to get effective performance in both offensive and defensive football," said Combs, "you need simplicity. But you also have to disguise and conceal this simplicity to create doubts in your opponents' minds."

"Neshaminy Football" —Discussing "Neshaminy Football" — Successive Defensive Play," Petercusk told the group that "basically you have to stick to the fundamentals."

The former ESSC gridders also emphasized a "player development program" which he considers "one of the most important things in our football program."

This program, he said, includes the use of weights, wrestling mats for agility drills, and running.

"If you develop a kid physically," he contended, "you also develop him mentally so that he can play a better game."

Petercusk also opined that "a thorough job of coaching the varsity team should consist of no more than 25-37 players. The other boys should be handled entirely by the junior varsity coach who, in most cases, does a competent job."

"The Passing Game" —Bob O'Dell of Bucknell University, discussed "Winning Football Through the Passing Game."

O'Dell cited his impressions and opinions on the passing attack which he said could bring success to many teams "if it is developed properly."

Today's agenda includes lectures by Dick Hoover of Vestal (N.Y.) High School, Dan Devine of Missouri University, and Clyde (Red) Witman, head wrestling coach at ESSC.

Hoover will discuss "Multiple Offense in High School," Devine will speak on "Team Drills" and "Short Yardage and Goal Line Defenses," and Witman will talk on "Drills to Develop the Successful Wrestler."

A buffet will follow at Glen Brook Country Club.

Memorable Homer
One of the home runs came in Sunday's opener while Bunning pitched the first perfect game in the National League in 84 years.

Bakich Wins Zippo Open
BRADFORD — Ron Bakich, pro at Lords Valley Country Club, yesterday won the Zippo Golf Open, shooting a one-under, par 69 competing against a field of 175.

The triumph was his first tournament victory of the season. Bakich, who had never played the Penn Hills CC course before, mingled five birdies with four bogeys to claim the $500 first prize.

Tennis Loss
BETHLEHEM — East Stroudsburg lost to Bethlehem, 4-5, in the Lehigh Valley District Tennis League Sunday.

East Stroudsburg winners were Richard Baker, Jim Frederick and Charles Reese in the singles, and Frederick and Don Brosius in the doubles.

Callison's Clouts Push The Phillies
By BEN OLAN
NEW YORK (AP)—Let's give Johnny Callison some credit for the Philadelphia Phillies' first place standing in the National League.

The 25-year-old outfielder has been virtually overlooked while the pitching staff, strengthened by the acquisition of Jim (Perfect Game) Bunning from Detroit and Ed Roebuck from Washington, has drawn most of the accolades for the club's improved showing.

Callison played a most important role as the Phils took four out of five from the New York Mets over the week-end and increased their lead over runner-up San Francisco to two games. He had eight hits in 18 attempts, including three homers.

Callison's output enabled him to move in among the National League's top 10 batters with a .303 average. Since May 19, he has hit at a .352 pace with 45 hits in 128 tries.

Most of the other National League's leading batters lost ground in last week's games.

Lose Ground
Billy Williams of the Chicago Cubs, the pace-setter, lost nine points to .373 with seven hits in 24 times at bat. Willie Mays of San Francisco held second place with .359, a five-point drop.

In the American League, rookie Tony Oliva of Minnesota regained first place from Jim Fregosi, Los Angeles Angels' shortstop. Oliva slumped nine points to .347. However, Fregosi managed only four hits in 21 attempts and dropped to .337, a loss of 22 points. The figures include Sunday's games.

Line Material
EAST STROUDSBURG—Scoring nine runs in the first two innings, Line Material yesterday whipped the Eagles, 12-5, in a Monroe County Babe Ruth League contest.

The winners tallied five runs in the first inning and added four more in the second to take an early 9-0 lead and win with ease.

McFarland belted a pair of doubles for the winners while Warner and Rahm each added separate two-baggers.

Venturis Go On 'Splurge'

By WILL GRIMSLEY
Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP)—Ken Venturi got a haircut and his wife, Conni, splurged on three pair of new hose.

That's where the first $8.75 went from the $17,000 winner's purse won by Venturi Saturday in the National Open Golf Tournament at Washington, D.C.

"Ken was so discouraged two weeks ago that he said he wasn't going to get his hair cut until he won a tournament," the beautiful Conni, a statuesque brunette who looks like a Las Vegas showgirl, said Monday.

"And, as for me, I didn't have a pair of hose in the place without runs in them. So the first thing I did was rush out and get home—three pair."

If the Venturis thought winning the Open was a grueling grind in Washington's pressure-cooker heat, they hadn't reckoned with the mad aftermath that comes from winning golf's most coveted prize.

"We've hardly had time to catch our breath," Conni said as she and her famous husband whisked to another of a series of Manhattan receptions. "We got to New York Sunday afternoon—no sleep and the telephone hasn't stopped ringing."

"But we love it. It's just wonderful."

A couple of weeks ago Venturi had to beg to get an invitation to play in a tournament, the Thunderbird Classic at Rye, N.Y.

Now he is besieged with all sorts of offers. He's wanted on television. People want to write his life story. They are after him for exhibitions. He is sought for endorsements.

They say winning the Open is worth $100,000 in side benefits during the first year.

It hasn't always been this way. Eight years ago Venturi, now 33, was acclaimed golf's most promising prospect and the probable successor to Ben Hogan. But he blew the Masters in 1955 after taking a big lead during the first three rounds. Frustration, failure and injury followed.

Then the tide suddenly turned—with the Open. But it wasn't easy.

The San Francisco professional's son said he got his greatest thrill as he strode down the fairway on the 18th and finishing hole.

Thundering Applause
"As I walked, the people on the hillside rose to their feet. It was as if a flag was going by," he said, "and there was applause—like thunder."

"I knew if I made that last putt, I had it. I made it and I turned to Ray Floyd, who was playing with me. Tears were streaming down Ray's face. Then they started coming down my own."

"I said, 'My God, I've won.' I could hardly believe it."

ALL FOR FUN... FUN FOR ALL

Jeep UNIVERSAL

The 'Jeep' Universal takes you to where the fun is, no matter where that may be. It takes you hunting where only the raccoons run. Skin diving where your tracks are the only ones on the beach. Fishing at lakes others have to hike to. And skiing, picnicking, and just plain roaming the back roads are more fun than ever before. When you own a 'Jeep' Universal, there's no end to the uses you find for it.

Here's the 4-wheel drive family car that's built for years of service. Proven virtually indestructible all over the world. It's available in a wide variety of hard tops, soft tops, convertible tops. Wheelbases from 80" to 101".

Third St. Playground Basketball Area Paving Costs $1,900

STROUDSBURG — Monroe County Commissioners yesterday approved a bid of $1,900 for blacktopping of the Third St. playground basketball court by Arthur C. DePue.

DePue had originally submitted a bid of $2,129, but the commissioners felt this was too high. After county engineer Ed Hess said that DePue's bid met the specification, the board called DePue and worked out the lower figure.

In other business, the board moved to give the public library $3,000 from its allocation of $5,000.

It also moved to give Pocono Twp. $6,830 of liquid fuels funds for road purposes.

Open House July 14

Marvin Abel of Civil Defense met with the board and said that signs for the new basement facilities in the courthouse would cost $288. There would be 33 signs and one nameplate.

It was also announced that the offices in the basement would hold open house July 14. Leonard Rinaldi of Henryville and Joseph Small, Stroudsburg insurance man and mayor, then met with the board. Rinaldi claims that he fell on a county bridge near Henryville on Dec. 16, 1963, and that he has been troubled with a bad leg since.

The county has been intending to fix the bridge for months. Small handles the county's insurance.

The board told Rinaldi that he should prepare a statement of his troubles and the amount of money he would like to collect, and the board would forward it to its insurance company for action.

Rinaldi said that the bridge has holes in it. He said that other people have tripped on the bridge.

$2,000 To Fix

Commissioner Stuart Pipher then said that the county has had Hess studying the bridge, and that estimates of $2,000 have been mentioned for welding steel plates across the holes and making a walkway.

Rinaldi said that after he made his claim, six months ago, an insurance man contacted him, but that he has heard nothing since.

Small then talked to the board about ways to save on insurance for the courthouse. He said the installation of 10 two and a half gallon fire extinguishers would reduce the yearly payments $140.

The group discussed and threw out the idea of a night watchman, which would save $70 per year.

The commissioners asked Small to report on the amount of supervision the borough of Stroudsburg plans to place on said he would ask the city the Third St. playground. Small council to make a decision.

WRINKLES

by Marie Davant

New York—Chemical science has found a white substance made with quicksilver that works wonders on wrinkled, roughened face and hands. Use it one time and it is entirely possible you will see improvement next morning. In a few days dry-skin wrinkles start to vanish. Many of the small ones around the eyes and mouth have already disappeared. But that is not all "Old-Age" (weathered) brown spots on hands and arms—brown "age" darkness on surface of face and neck fades away! Rich oils lubricate pores so blackheads can slip out without squeezing. Surface pimples and blemishes and scars, outwardly caused, dry up or become less noticeable! But don't take my word for it. Make a 6-day test without risking one penny. Just get a jar of Peacock's Imperial Creme at your favorite department or drug store. Use this thrilling cream for 6 days—and if you are not delighted with results, full price will be refunded. No questions asked. Peacock's Imperial Creme can work wonders for wrinkles, lines, brown spots and other weathered blemishes. You may obtain Imperial Creme for $2.00 plus tax from Rea & Derick, Drugs. Clip this out.
